Victorian Toys and Games

Victorian toys were usually made from wood, metal and paper. The toys that Victorian children had depended on how much money their family had.

Children from rich families played with toys such as clockwork train sets, toy soldiers, tea sets, rocking horses, dolls and dolls houses.

Children from poor families played with home-made toys such as peg dolls and wooden boats. Rags were stuffed with sawdust to make balls and toy animals. If they were lucky, poor children were sometimes bought cheap penny toys from the market.

Victorian Toys and Games

Girls usually played with dolls, dolls houses and tea sets.

Boys usually played with toy trains, boats, soldiers and marbles.

In many homes, the only toy children were allowed to play with on a Sunday was Noah's Ark, because it related to the Bible.

Victorian children enjoyed playing games too. Football was popular outdoors and children played board games like Ludo and card games like Happy Families indoors.
