Writing – Story planning

Choose one of the pictures below to inspire your adventure story, and then draw a comic strip to plan out the events of the story.

Your story should have no more than three characters, and should take the reader on an adventure. This means the characters will visit an extraordinary location and the story should include some action, danger or a challenge that the characters face in order to return home safely!

Use the comic strip on the next page to plan out the events of your story.
